2016 Canadian Energy Person of the Year Call for Nominations

The Canadian Energy Person of the Year Award was established by the Energy Council of Canada in 2001 to recognize and pay tribute to a Canadian energy leader who has made a significant impact at the national and international levels with the energy sector. Nominations for the Canadian Energy Person of the Year award are based upon the nominee's remarkable accomplishments in the business or public sectors and the community at large.

A foremost characteristic of the nominee is their strong sense of social responsibility and their commitment to give back to the community. Their focus upon environmental and social issues, and economic development should be evident. Their forward thinking and innovative spirit enable these leaders to promote the Canadian energy sector and Canada's role in the world energy market.

The Nomination Process:

Candidates may be nominated by any Member of the Energy Council of Canada, any of the Canadian sectoral energy Associations and their Members, or by others active in Canada's energy industry.

Selection Process: The nominations that best meet the selection criteria will be considered by the Canadian Energy Person of the Year Nomination Committee. For 2016, the Nomination Committee consists of the Chair, who is the past chair of the Energy Council of Canada, the presidents of the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers, the Canadian Electricity Association, the Canadian Gas Association and the Canadian Hydropower Association, and, the Chair, the Treasurer and President of the Energy Council of Canada. The Nomination Committee will make a recommendation to the Board of Directors of the Energy Council of Canada which will select the 2016 recipient.

Award and Celebration:

The CEPY Award is made of NovaScotian Crystal designed especially for the Energy Council of Canada. The award will be presented at the 2016 Canadian Energy Person of the Year Celebration event, planned for November/October 2016 in a Canadian City proximate to the recipient's locale. The Canadian Energy Person of the Year will be invited to address the award ceremony. As part of the award, the Energy Council of Canada makes a donation in the recipient's name to a charity of the Energy Person's choice.
